DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-26 are presented for examination.

INFORMATION DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

2. The information disclosure statements filed on February 14, 2006, complies with the provisions of MPEP § 609. They have been placed in the application file, and the information referred to therein has been considered as to the merits.

Double Patenting

3. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Art Unit: 2167

4. Claims 1, 3, 6-9, 13-17, and 26 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1, 2, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 15, 23, 25, and 30 of copending Application No. 10/864,267. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because of the similarities in the claim limitations of claims 1, 3, 6-9, 13-17, and 26 of the instant application which are found in claims 1, 2, 6, 8, 10, 12, 14, 15, 23, 25, and 30 of copending Application No. 10/864,267 as presented by the following:

1. A transactional processing system comprising:

a database writer configured to process data in accordance with one or more transactions within the transaction processing system; a transaction monitor for monitoring transactions within the transaction processing system; a log writer for maintaining audit trail data associated with transactions within the transaction processing system; and one or more non-disk persistent memory units associated with the log writer and configured to receive, from the log writer, audit trail data. (claim 1 of the instant application)

1. A transaction processing system comprising:

a database writer configured to process data in accordance with one or more transactions within the transaction processing system; a transaction monitor for monitoring transactions within the transaction processing system; a log writer for maintaining audit trail data associated with transactions within the transaction processing system; and one or more non-disk persistent memory units, said transaction processing system being configured to use said one or more non-disk persistent memory units for checkpointing. (claim 1 of 10/864267)

Claim 2 of 10/864267 and claim 3 of the instant application both recite: The transaction processing system of claim 1, wherein said one or more non-disk persistent memory units comprises a primary non-disk persistent memory unit and a mirror non-disk persistent memory unit.

6. A transaction processing system comprising:

a database writer configured to process data in accordance with one or more transactions within the transaction processing system;

a transaction monitor for monitoring transactions within the transaction processing system;

a log writer for maintaining audit trail data associated with transactions within the transaction processing system;

one or more non-disk persistent memory units associated with the log writer and configured to receive, from the log writer, audit trail data; and one or more audit log disks configured to receive audit trail data that is first received by the one or more non-disk persistent memory units. (claim 6 of the instant application)

6. A transaction processing system comprising:

a database writer configured to process data in accordance with one or more transactions within the transaction processing system;

a transaction monitor for monitoring transactions within the transaction processing system;

a log writer for maintaining audit trail data associated with transactions within the transaction processing system;

Art Unit: 2167

one or more non-disk persistent memory units associated with the log writer and configured to receive, from the log writer, audit trail data, said one or more non-disk persistent memory units being configured to be used by at least the log writer for checkpointing; and

Therefore, claims 1-26 of the instant application substantially comprise claim limitations that are presented in claims 1-31 of co-pending application 10/864267.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 14 and 26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Baentsch et al. (Patent No. 6,272,607 B1 filed August 24, 1999, priority to foreign application EP 98116374 filed August 24, 1999, hereinafter Baentsch).

Art Unit: 2167

7. Regarding Claim 14, Baentsch teaches a method and apparatus for transactional writing of data into a persistent memory.

The method and associated system for transactional writing of data into a persistent memory as taught or suggested by Baentsch includes:

Receiving data (col. 6, lines 44 and 45, 'valid data from the buffer 6 to the persistent memory 50') associated with transaction-induced state changes (col. 6, lines 44 and 45, '..procedure copies all valid data...'; col. 6, lines 48-50, '...the object header 3 was written to the buffer 6, the buffer content is to be used to update the persistent memory 50. '); and writing the received data to non-disk persistent memory sufficient to commit an associated transaction (col. 5, lines 34-40, col. 6, lines 30-39, col. 7, lines 5-21 and 60-65).

8. Regarding Claim 26, Baentsch teaches using non-disk persistent memory to commit transactions (col. 2, lines 28-31, col. 4, lines 24-28, col. 5, lines 34-40, col. 6, lines 30-39, col. 7, lines 5-21 and 60-65).
